News from the President

Bartley G. Hoebel
Princeton University

Thanks to volunteers, SSIB is making progress in many areas.

1) SSIB in Banff this August promises to be a great meeting with over 100 abstracts submitted, over 30 invited speakers, a short course on molecular biology, side trips to Chateau Lake Louise and Johnston Canyon, sports facilities and a gorgeous setting in the Rockies. Registration is expected to top 160 in spite of the long distance. To register for the meeting send in the registration form or contact Harry Kissileff [see page 8].

2) Banff abstracts probably will be published in Physiology and Behavior, thanks greatly to the efforts of Editor Sue Schiffman.

3) At the invitation of Jackie Crawley, SSIB will publish basic Ingestive Behavior Protocols in a Wiley volume on Protocols in Neuroscience. Every member of SSIB is invited to submit a protocol. The ones that are too specialized for Wiley will be made available to the membership in loose-leaf format as a volume desktop-published by SSIB. [For more information, see page 2.] Contact me with your suggestions for a protocol (hoebel@princeton.edu). To coordinate and unify the SSIB volume, Paul Wellman will edit the animal protocols, and we need a volunteer to coordinate the human protocols.

4) If you need guidance on any of the following subjects contact the following volunteers:

If you know of a company that might donate funds for student travel, please call me. Donations are running low this year.

5) Mark your Calendar: SSIB in Banff August 22-25, 1996. Gary Schwartz has all the rooms reserved for SSIB in Baltimore July 16-20, 1997; then ICPFFI/SSIB joint meeting in Pecs, Hungary August, 1998; then in Gainesville, Florida in 1999 and possibly Paris in 2000! Send me those technique protocols, and I hope to see you in Banff.
